

Fabricated Geomembranes

SECURE TEMPORARY CONTAINMENT

Many industrial activities involve the use or transfer of potentially environmentally damaging chemicals and liquids. Leaks and spills are typical occurrences. Why rely on a cleanup strategy when you can prevent these pollutants from contacting soil or groundwater.

GSE offers a very high level of protection with its reusable, fabricated polyethylene containment pads. GSE QuickContainment pads are fabricated using GSE Leak Location geomembrane. Clean liner pads can be repeatedly spark-tested to ensure long-term secure containment. In addition, these pads are easily transportable and cost far less than alternatives

ADVANTAGES OF GSE LEAK LOCATION GEOMEMBRANE

GSE Leak Location HDPE is the primary choice for chemical and hazardous waste containment. GSE Leak Location geomembrane can be thoroughly and economically spark-tested for leaks after installation. No other liner material provides these benefits.

4 STEPS... 15 MINUTES

Reusable, prefabricated secondary containment pads are assembled in 4 easy steps.

1. Unfold GSE QuickContainment pad
2. Spark test the HDPE pad
3. Place tank & equipment on HDPE pad
4. Insert steel angles into pouches
